DUNLEVY MAN SEARCHING FOR TRACE OF HIS WIFE

Alleges She Ran Away With Former Friend

SMALL CHILD ALSO GONE

Men Worked On Opposite Turns at the Dunlevy Coal Mine

Richard Grandi, a Dunlevy miner is looking for his wife and baby and also would not be averse to running up against one Carlo Danessi, of Dunlevy, a fellow miner, whom he charges with running away with his better half. Yesterday afternoon Grandi came to Charleroi, accompanied by Justice of the Peace Laverick of Dunlevy, on the hunt for the couple, and said he expected to go to Pittsburg to try to locate them there.

Grandi and Danessi worked on opposite turns at the Dunlevy mine. For years they had been the best of friends, but recently evil reports of the conduct of Danessi with Grandi's wife came to the latter's ears, and such was the evidence that he broke friendship with the man and told him to stay from his house.

Apparently the warning was effective, and for a time matters were lovely. Yesterday morning after a hard night's work Grandi went home, anticipating a good breakfast and several hours' rest, but to his consternation when he arrived not only his wife was missing but also the baby boy. Subsequent investigation revealed the fact that Danessi was also absent from the vicinity. Now Grandi is hot on the search for both and it will likely go hard with Danessi should he find him.

Besides the baby boy which it is said the woman took with her, three other children somewhat older. Danessi is a married man according to Grandi, having a wife and family in the old country.

HAS A GOOD WORD TO SAY FOR TENER

Allenport Man Remembers When Candidate Came to Charleroi

APPEARANCE OF PLACE

To the Editor of the Charleroi Mail.

Dear Sir: Saturday evening while seated in the opera house listening to the addresses of the different candidates, my memory carried me back 54 years, when as a boy I gathered berries on the ground where I was then sitting, and in contrasting the valley of 54 years ago with the present, and noting the wonderful developments of the same, I also remembered that 19 years ago the first lot on which Charleroi now stands was sold. I also remembered that at that time our honored standard bearer moved into this communiaty and became, as it were, one of us, one of the main founders and upbuilders of the Magic City.

I remembered that for 19 years he had been our neighbor, all of us meeting him and his estimable wife in all

The new superintendent is A. Hartupee Chandler, and the new assistant is Lee Showers, both men coming from Crystal City, Mo. Mr. Chandler came in August and Mr. Showers but a few days ago.

R. O. Stillwell, the former superintendent, is now located in Crystal City, as is also his former assistant superintendent here, Irving Brown. Mr. Brown went to the western factory the first of September, after having been in charge of the local plant nearly the entire summer.

NEW RITUALISTIC WORK BEAUTIFUL

Lady Maccabees Initiate New Class of Candidates Last Meeting

The Charleroi Hive, Ladies of the Maccabees, iniatiated a class of new members at the regular meeting last night. The beautiful new ritualistic work was put through for the first time.

All the members were present but four or five, and a good feeling of sisterly love was manifested by all ladies present. Visitors were present from Fayette City and one from Washington, who regard the Charleroi Hive as deserving of special praise for the beautiful floor work. The new work is no longer an obstacle to the officers and guards and it was carried through last night in a most impressive manner. All present expressed themselves as delighted. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served, consisting of dainty cakes and ice cream.

George Rylands is spending the day in Pittsburg.

Bids are being received now by the Fallowfield township road supervisors for the resurfacing of 6,000 feet of the Sprowls road on Maple Creek. The bids will be received up until Saturday noon. The supervisors are Henry Carson, Jehu Cooper and William Jones, and the engineer is Theodore J. Allen, of Charleroi.

The first 400 feet leading from the borough of Charleroi line will be bricked,. With the bids for reconstructing the road is also being received bids for the building of a 25 foot span iron bridge with concrete abutments over Maple Creek.

SOUND BUSINESS PLEDGED BY CANDIDATE J. K. TENER

Charleroi Man Makes Address to Enthusiastic Audience at Farmers' Picnic Yesterday

Declaring that sound business principles should be applied to the departments of the State and pledging himself to put these principles in practice if elected, John K. Tener, Republican candidate for Governor, yesterday adressed the vistiors to the farmer's picnic at Chestnut Hill, near Philadelphia. Mr. Tener was accompanied by John M. Reynolds, nominee for Lieutenant Governor, and C. S. Wright, candidate for State Treasurer. Fully 30,000 persons had crowded about the speakers' stand when the speaking started. The candidates were greeted with applause as they took their places on the stand.

In his address Mr Tener defended his stand on roads, public health and schools, which was one of the more important themes covered yesterday by Senator Grim, the Democratic nominee for Governor.

Mr. Tener said that he pleaded guilty of the accusation that he was in favor of good roads, good health and good schools. If elected, he said, he would insist upon the application of correct business principles in every department of the State. He praised the conduct of the present administration as applied to the State Departments.

S. Van Voorhis.

CHARLEROI, PA., IS WIDELY KNOWN

Letter to Charleroi, Belgium, Not Properly Addressed, Comes Here

CONTAINED BANK DRAFT

Although there are other Charlerois in the world, Charleroi, Pennsylvania, is the only one on any hemisphere that has any standing worth speaking of.

This morning a letter addressed to "Banque de Charleroi, Charleroi," came to the Bank of Charleroi here from Lima, Peru, where it was mailed on August 9. The letter was opened and it was found to contain a draft for 822 francs in French money. Accompanying the draft was a letter written in French, and from it was learned that Charleroi, Belgium, was the real destination of the letter.

Neither the country, nor the state, was included in the address, and the letter come direct from Lima and arrived here within a month, proving that this town although smaller and younger than Charleroi, Belgium, is infinitely better known. The letter was forwarded by the local bank officials to its proper destination.

Ferry Company Fails to Name Landing Points

Charter Refused Brownsville Concern Because of Its Neglect

Neglect to set forth the termini of a proposed ferry is declared to be the reason for the refusal of the State to issue a charter to the Three Towns Ferry company at Brownsville. The plant of the company was to establish ferry service between Brownsville and West Brownsville upon the old wooden covered bridge being torn down, but in their application for a charter the company inadvertently, it is said, failed to state the points of landing.

SECOND MEMBER OF CLUB TO WED

Miss Marie Pollock of Monongahela Popular Among "Bachelor Girls"

At six o'clock last evening at the home of the bride's mother in Monongahela occurred the wedding of Miss Marie Eleanor Pollock, and John F. Nicholson, of Monogahela. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. F. McKee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, in the presence of the immediate relatives and friends of the family. The couple left on a wedding trip and will return after several days to live at Monongahela. The bride is the president of the Bachelor Girl's club of Charleroi, and is the second member to be married. Among those who attended the wedding was Miss Nellie Piper, of Charleroi.

Teachers Will Begin Studies

Local Instructors Expect to Be Benefitted by Professional Subjects

The Charleroi teachers will shorly begin the study of professional subects in connection with their regular school work, in accordance with a custom established last year. They will take up the study of nature and such subjects to enable them to be better qualified for their teaching work. Supt. J. G. Pentz will conduct the various teachers' meetings where these studies are pursued.

RAINS WASH ACID FROM THE RIVER

Low Water Results In Trouble for Steamboatmen

BUT SLIGHT RISE NOTED

The recent rains while not doing much in the way of a boating stage in the local rivers were of much benefit to the steamboats plying on the Monongahela. For some time past, in fact ever since real low water, the steamboat owners have been troubled with the acid which accumulates in the river during the low water, which is very hard on the boilers, chemical analysis showing nine grains of acid to the gallon. Powerful compounds and counteracting remedies are used but in spite of this the boats are out of commission much of the time, making repairs on their boilers.

Some of the larger boats have their own condensing plants aboard which is a great relief, while others carry water along with them on a flat boat, which is taken either from up the Allehgeny river or from the upper Monongahela where the acid is not so troublesome.

Water Guage Invented By A Riverman

Robert McGrevy, assistant Lockmaster at Lock No. 2 on the Monongahela river, has constructed and placed in successful operation a uniquely designed water gague whereby the stage of water can be readily ascertained either by day or night. Mr. McGrevy has spent some time in perfecting the arrangement and at last has success for his efforts. The present gague is placed to tell the gague in the upper pool but in a short time one will be placed in position so as to gague the water in the lower pool as well. The device appears to be a success in every way and may be introduced at all the locks.

Schools in Unusual Overcrowded Condition Now

BOARD TO MEET TONIGHT

Over 70 Pupils in One Room of Crest Avenue Building

With an enrollment of nearly 1,900 pupils the school authorities are facing the somewhat unusual prospect of having to provide extra accommodations before the first month of the school term has expired. The enrollment yesterday totaled 1,853 and there are still a number to come in. The school board will hold a meeting tonight at which time they will likely take up the matter, and discuss the division of one room at least.

One room of the Crest avenue school has over 70 pupils. This is too many for one teacher to handle, and some provision will have to be made. It is possible that another room will be provided and another teacher elected. The eighth grade at the Fifth street building is likewise overcrowded, and some of the pupils there may have to be transferred.

The present enrollment is really more than was anticipated for the first month of the year. The attendance is keeping pace with the enrollment, this causing the congested condition.

LARGE NUMBER OF YOUNGSTERS MAY GET WORK

Employment Certificates Held by Many Between Ages of 14 and 16

There are nearly 200 boys and girls in Charleroi between the ages of 14 and 16 years old who hold working certificates, and who are supposedly employed at some of the factories or other business houses hereabouts. Superintendent of Schools James G. Pentz made known this fact yesterday. So far this school term he has granted but three certificates. He will see to it that all those holding certificates but who are not employed anywhere go to school.

To Receive Bids

Proposals for grading, curbing and paving McKean avenue from 13th street to borough line of North Charleroi will be received by borough clerk. All bids to be in on or before the 16th day of September, 1910. Council reserves the right to erect any or all bids. Plans and specifications can be seen at clerk's office.

An Acquisition

The recent change in the superintendency of the Pittsburg Plate Glass factory here brings to the town a young man who was early identified with the founding and development of Charleroi. This is A. Hartupee Chandler, who has succeeded R. O. Stilwell in the management of the Charleroi factory. Mr. Chandler's father, the late Dr. Chandler, was one of the leading spirits in the establishment of the plate glass plant here before it was absorbed by the corporation, and as a citizen of the new town of which the factory was the nucleus, was until the time of his death actively identified with the material and social life of Charleroi. His son, who has followed in the same line of activities as his father, was in Charleroi at the beginning, and his transfer here is a most agreable move to the citizens of the Magic City.

While Mr. Stilwell, the preceding superintendent, was an esteemed and valued citizen, his services were required elsewhere, and as a successor had to be appointed the selection of Mr. Chandler was pleasing all around. By the people here he is considered "one of us," and the pleasant relations he severed when his line of duty took him elsewhere, can be renewed, without delay or confuison. The return of himself and family is a decided acquisition to the social and business life of Charleroi.

One Man's Work

In this period of social unrest and suspicion against what is termed the "big interests" it is interesting to note some of the benefits as well as the abuses of the vast concentration of wealth and its development. This is shown by a writer in an article on the achievements of James J. Hill, builder of the Great Northern railroad.

By his creative genius Mr. Hill constructed 7,000 miles of railroad through undeveloped country. This alone advances values at least $20 an acre on 320,000,000 acres of land, increasing the wealth of the country $6,400,000,000. At least 500,000 people found employment at good wages, by reason of this one man's energy. If each only earns $2 a day this is increased income for employed labor amounting to $1,000,000 per day, or for 300 days is $300,000,000 annually. This is 6 per cent. on five billion dollars.

These developments might have been made during the next century, but by the energy and genius of one man they were hastened fully 100 years. It is up to the world to judge whether or not this was a blessing or a curse to humanity; whether an active policy, like that of the United States, is better than a passive policy, like that of China. The concensus of opinion will be in favor of the former policy.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

Walter Bean of Lima, Ohio, has enlisted in the navy. Now he's a navy bean.

Yesterday's issue of the Washington Observer, E. F. Acheson's newspaper, had an editorial entitled "Sour Milk," If it had been "Sour Grapes" it would have been more in keeping with that paper's political attitude.

Permissible explosives should be those which it is impossible for the average man to fire.

The People's Tribune, a strictly Prohibition paper published in Uniontown, reiterates that Berry is a sorehead. Aw, now, quit.

One trouble against Esperanto, according to an exchange, is that a cuss word is not provided. What is needed is some word which covers a whole lot without actual access to profanity.

Acording to Pittsburg city officials crowding in street cars must be stopped. Does that mean crowding in seats or crowding for straps?

To the man who has to withstand an operation for appendicitis and pay the bill for the same, the disease is nothing more than an old fashioned stomache ache.

the social relations of a true neighborly life.

I remembered that for 19 years he had been our counselor and our friend and to many of us, a friend indeed.

I rememberd that for 19 years we had done business with him day by day, always on correct business principles, and ever found him the same genial, courtly gentleman with whom it was a pleasure to do business.

I remembered that for 19 years we knew of his going out and coming in, in fact the daily routine of his life during all these years was known to every person in this community. Remembering all these things and much more which I will not trespass on your space, I was impressed with the one fact that John K. Tener's whole life has been as an open book and there is not one closed page in his whole record.

In conclusion permit me to say a few words on the present situation. To my Democratic friends with whom we have fought many a hard battle in the past, and after this campaign expect to fight many more; to my Prohibition friends, who like the poor are always with us, with their issue; to my Socialist neighbors who are likened to John the Baptist peaching in the wilderness and living on locusts and wild honey, but mostly locusts; to my Keystone party friends who are to the political world just now what a mosquito is to the material world, all are here for some wise purpose, but God above only knows what, to one and all I say, be of good cheer. While the outlook is gloomy in their camps, everything shines brightly in the Republican camp today.

We present for their consideration four candidates who stand four square to every just criticism that may be leveled against them, and I assure them that in my opinion while John K. Tener occupies the executive mansion as Goveror of this State they will all get a square deal. You are entitled to it and you are going to get it.

THE WORD "ALPHABET."

It Comes Through the Greeks and Hebrews From Phoenicia.

When we speak of our A B C's as our "alphabet" we are using a word hoary with age, that, as far back as we can trace it, came from the eastern shore of the Mediterranean sea, thousands of years before the Hebrews went up there and took possession of the land of Canaan. Back of the people who occupied that land before the events of Exodus were written we are not able to trace the word, for we have not sufficient knowledge of them or of their etymological history before we find them in Canaan.

It has been only within recent years that we have been able to know that the word "alphabet" came to us from the Phoenicians. Before that we supposed that it came to us from the Hebrews, through the Greek. As we say "A B C" the Greeks say "alpha beta" (the first two letters of their alphabet), which when it reached us became "alphabet." This we supposed had come to the Greeks from the Hebrews, who called their first two letters "alph" and "beth," but since then we have found that both the Greeks and the Hebrews got the word "alphabet" from the same source, which was the Phoenicians.

The people of Phoenicia had the same letters, "alph" and "beth," which have suffered but little change in sound down to our A and B. Alph meant simply an ox, the sign of it being a conventional ox's head, with the lower part of the face turned slightly to its right, and beth meant a house, which was pictured by the rude outline of a primitive dwelling, which had a superfluous line added to distinguish it from other characters very like it, as we place a tail on a Q to distinguish it from an O. So the first two letters of our A B C's were originally an ox and a house and gave the name of all of the twenty-six letters which we call our "alphabet."—New York Herald.

MAKE THEM LAUGH.

A Bachelor's Idea of the Way Children Should Be Trained.

"The people who don't have to do things can always do them better than the people who are obliged to do them," said the cynical bachelor. "If you want to know how to invest money, ask a fellow who has never had any to invest. I suppose it's the same with raising children. Nevertheless I am fond of children, and never having had an opportunity of raising any of my own, I am critical about the way other people, more fortunate than I, raise theirs.

"My brother has a youngster, a boy about six years old, and everything that kid wants he cries for. The minute he begins to cry he gets it, which, according to my reasoning, is all wrong.

"Why not make him laugh for it? It's just as easy for a child to laugh as to cry, and it's far more healthful, besides being much more cheerful for the surrounding populace.

"I've tried the experiment with him, and it works like a charm. If I happen to have anything he wants, and he cries for it, I make fun of him. 'That isn't the way to get it,' I say. 'Don't cry for it. Laugh for it.'

"It took only about two lessons for him to understand this, and you have no idea what a wonderful difference it has made in the disposition of that kid. Still, I'm only an old bachelor, and I'm not supposed to know anything about such things."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Took an Unfair Advantage.

Mrs. Dorkins — Yesterday I called Mrs. Grundage's attention to the fact that she had left the gate between our back yards open and that her chickens had come through and scratched up our flower beds, and she looked as if she would have liked to bite my head off. How foolish it is for people to get angry when you remind them that they have been careless about something they had no business to over look!

Mr. Dorkins—I am glad to hear you say that, Maria. You won't mind if I mention that when I came home last night I found that you'd left both the back doors unlocked.

Mrs. Dorkins — Yes; you're always watching to see if you can't catch me in some little fault, and it makes you perfectly happy when you do!—New York Tribune.

Something to Live For.

Three little girls were playing. The mother of one came into the room and engaged the children in conversation. "Marian, what are you going to be when you grow up?" she asked.

"I am going to be a famous singer," she replied.

"And you, Susie, what are you to be?"

"Oh, I am going to write stories when I grow up," she answered.

"And what is Marjorie to be?" continued the mother.

Marjorie, aged five, thought seriously a moment, and then said, "Well, I am not sure, but I think I'll be a widow.'

Nietzsche and the Invalid.

An invalid lady who often met Nietzsche found him the gentlest, kindest and most sypmathetic of men. He "implored her with tears in his eyes not to read his books." Such was his knowledge of women that he was thunderstruck to find shortly afterward that the lady at once proceeded to read them all. He was further stupefied by the discovery that, having read them, she was utterly unmoved by the philosopher's unanswerable demonstrations that feeble persons like herself had no right to live and that women were distinguished by this, that and the other objectionable attribute. It must have been a blow to him.—London News.

The Colossus of Rhodes.

The gigantic Colossus of Rhodes was one of the seven wonders of the world. It was erected in honor of the sun by Charles of Lindus, a disciple of Lysippus, and was thrown down by an earthquake about 224 B. C.

The figure stood upon two moles, a leg extended on each side of the harbor. A winding staircase led to the top of the figure, from out of the eyes of which were visible the coast of Syria and the ships sailing on the coast of Egypt. The colossi were the peculiar characteristic of eastern art and were of common occurrence, many of them being over sixty feet in height. The most celebrated is the statue of Memnos, on the plain of Thebes, described by the historian Strabo

DUNLEVY MAN SEARCHING FOR TRACE OF HIS WIFE

Alleges She Ran Away With Former Friend

SMALL CHILD ALSO GONE

Men Worked On Opposite Turns at the Dunlevy Coal Mine

Richard Grandi, a Dunlevy miner is looking for his wife and baby and also would not be averse to running up against one Carlo Danessi, of Dunlevy, a fellow miner, whom he charges with running away with his better half. Yesterday afternoon Grandi came to Charlreoi, accompanied by Justice of the Peace Laverick of Dunlevy, on the hunt for the couple, and said he expected to go to Pittsburg to try to locate them there.

Grandi and Danessi worked on opposite turns at the Dunlevy mine. For years they had been the best of friends, but recently evil reports of the conduct ot Danessi with Grandi's wife came to the latter's ears, and such was the evidence that he broke friendship with the man and told him to stay from his house.

Apparently the warning was effective, and for a time matters were lovely. Yesterday morning after a hard night's work Grandi went home, anticipating a good breakfast and several hours' rest, but to his consternation when he arrived not only his wife was missing but also the baby boy. Subsequent investigation revealed the fact that Danessi was also absent from the vicinity. Now Grandi is hot on the search for both and it will likely go hard with Danessi should he find him.

Besides the baby boy which it is said the woman took with her, three other children somewhat older. Danessi is a married man according to Grandi, having a wife and family in the old country.

Allenport Man Remembers When Candidate Came to Charleroi

To the Editor of the Charleroi Mail.

Dear Sir: Saturday evening while seated in the opera house listening to the addresses of the different candidates, my memory carried me back 54 years, when as a boy I gathered berries on the ground where I was then sitting, and in contrasting the valley of 54 years ago with the present, and noting the wonderful developments of the same, I also remembered that 19 years ago the first lot on which Charleroi now stands was sold. I also remembered that at that time our honored standard bearer moved ino this communiaty and became, as it were, one of us, one of the main founders and upbuilders of the Magic City.

I remembered that for 19 years he had been our neighbor, all of us meeting him and his estimable wife in all

The Charleroi Hive, Ladies of the Maccabees, iniatiated a class of new members at the regular meeting last night. The beautiful new ritualistic work was put through for the first time.

All the members were present but four or five, and a good feeling of sisterly love was manifested by all ladies present. Visitors were present from Fayette City and one from Washington, who regard the Charleroi Hive as deserving of special praise for the beautiful floor work. The new work is no longer an obstacle to the officers and guards and it was carried through last night in a most impressive manner. All present expressed themselves as delighted. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served, consisting of dainty cakes and ice cream.

George Rylands is spending the day in Pittsburg.

SOUND BUSINESS PLEDGED BY CANDIDATE J. K. TENER

Charleroi Man Makes Address to Enthusiastic Audience at Farmers' Picnic Yesterday

Declaring that sound business principles should be applied to the departments of the State and pledging himself to put these principles in practice if elected, John K. Tener, Republican candidate for Governor, yesterday adressed the vistiors to the farmer's picnic at Chestnut Hill, near Philadelphia. Mr. Tener was accompanied by John M. Reynolds, nominee for Lieutenant Governor, and C. S. Wright, candidate for State Treasurer. Fully 30,000 persons had crowded about the speakers' stand when the speaking started. The candidates were greeted with applause as they took their places on the stand.

In his address Mr Tener defended his stand on roads, public health and schools, which was one of the more important themes covered yesterday by Senator Grim, the Democratic nominee for Governor.

Mr. Tener said that he pleaded guilty of the accusation that he was in favor of good roads, good health and good schools. If elected, he said, he would insist upon the application of correct business principles in every department of the State. He praised the conduct of the present administration as applied to the State Departments.

CHARLEROI, PA., IS WIDELY KNOWN

Letter to Charleroi, Belgium, Not Properly Addressed, Comes Here

CONTAINED BANK DRAFT

Although there are other Charlerois in the world, Charleroi, Pennsylvania, is the only one on any hemisphere that has any standing worth speaking of.

This morning a letter addressed to "Banque de Charleroi, Charleroi," came to the Bank of Charleroi here from Lima, Peru, where it was mailed on August 9. The letter was opened and it was found to contain a draft for 822 francs in French money. Accompanying the draft was a letter written in French, and from it was learned that Charleroi, Belgium, was the real destination of the letter.

Neither the country, nor the state, was included in the address, and the letter come direct from Lima and arrived here within a month, proving that this town although smaller and younger than Charleroi, Belgium, is infinitely better known. The letter was forwarded by the local bank officials to its proper destination.

Ferry Company Fails to Name Landing Points

Charter Refused Brownsville Concern Because of Its Neglect

Neglect to set forth the termini of a proposed ferry is declared to be the reason for the refusal of the State to issue a charter to the Three Towns Ferry company at Brownsville. The plant of the company was to establish ferry service between Brownsville and West Brownsville upon the old wooden covered bridge being torn down, but in their application for a charter the company inadvertently, it is said, failed to state the points of landing.

MAY BE NECESSARY TO PROVIDE ANOTHER ROOM

Schools in Unusual Overcrowded Condition Now

BOARD TO MEET TONIGHT

Over 70 Pupils in One Room of Crest Avenue Building

With an enrollment of nearly 1,900 pupils the school authorities are facing the somewhat unusual prospect of having to provide extra accommodations before the first month of the school term has expired. The enrollment yesterday totaled 1,853 and there are still a number to come in. The school board will hold a meeting tonight at which time they will likely take up the matter, and discuss the division of one room at least.

One room of the Crest avenue school has over 70 pupils. This is too many for one teacher to handle, and some provision will have to be made. It is possible that another room will be provided and another teacher elected. The eighth grade at the Fifth street building is likewise overcrowded, and some of the pupils there may have to be transferred.

The present enrollment is really more than was anticipated for the first month of the year. The attendance is keeping pace with the enrolment, this causing the congested condition.

Teachers Will Begin Studies

Local Instructors Expect to Be Benefitted by Professional Subjects

The Charleroi teachers will shorly begin the study of professional subects in connection with their regular school work, in accordance with a custom established last year. They will take up the study of nature and such subjects to enable them to be better qualified for their teaching work. Supt. J. G. Pentz will conduct the various teachers' meetings where these studies are pursued.

RAINS WASH ACID FROM THE RIVER

Low Water Results In Trouble for Steamboatmen

BUT SLIGHT RISE NOTED

The recent rains while not doing much in the way of a boating stage in the local rivers were of much benefit to the steamboats plying on the Monongahela. For some time past, in fact ever since real low water, the steamboat owners have been troubled with the acid which accumulates in the river during the low water, which is very hard on the boilers, chemical analysis showing nine grains of acid to the gallon. Powerful compounds and counteracting remedies are used but in spite of this the boats are out of commission much of the time, making repairs on their boilers.

Some of the larger boats have their own condensing plants aboard which is a great relief, while others carry water along with them on a flat boat, which is taken either from up the Allehgeny river or from the upper Monongahela where the acid is not so troublesome.

Water Guage Invented By A Riverman

Robert McGrevy, assistant Lockmaster at Lock No. 2 on the Monongahela river, has constructed and placed in successful operation a uniquely designed water gague whereby the stage of water can be readily ascertained either by day or night. Mr. McGrevy has spent some time in perfecting the arrangement and at last has success for his efforts. The present gague is placed to tell the gague in the upper pool but in a short time one will be placed in position so as to gague the water in the lower pool as well. The device appears to be a success in every way and may be introduced at all the locks.

$5.00 to $10.00 saved on every buggy or wagon on Saturday at the Smith Buggy store, corner 6th and McKean. 26t2

LARGE NUMBER OF YOUNGSTERS MAY GET WORK

Employment Certificates Held by Many Between Ages of 14 and 16

There are nearly 200 boys and girls in Charleroi between the ages of 14 and 16 years old who hold working certificates, and who are supposedly employed at some of the factories or other business houses hereabouts. Superintendent of Schools James G. Pentz made known this fact yesterday. So far this school term he has granted but three certificates. He will see to it that all those holding certificates but who are not employed anywhere go to school.

To Receive Bids

Proposals for grading, curbing and paving McKean avenue from 13th street to borough line of North Charleroi will be received by borough clerk. All bids to be in on or before the 16th day of September, 1910. Council reserves the right to erect any or all bids. Plans and specifications can be seen at clerk's office.

An Acquisition

The recent change in the superintendency of the Pittsburg Plate Glass factory here brings to the town a young man who was early identified with the founding and development of Charleroi. This is A. Hartupee Chandler, who has succeeded R. O. Stilwell in the management of the Charleroi factory. Mr. Chandler's father, the late Dr. Chandler, was one of the leading spirits in the establishment of the plate glass plant here before it was absorbed by the corporation, and as a citizen of the new town of which the factory was the nucleus, was until the time of his death actively identified with the material and social life of Charleroi. His son, who has followed in the same line of activities as his father, was in Charleroi at the beginning, and his transfer here is a most agreeable move to the citizens of the Magic City.

While Mr. Stilwell, the preceding superintendent, was an esteemed and valued citizen, his services were required elsewhere, and as a successor had to be appointed the selection of Mr. Chandler was pleasing all around. By the people here he is considered "one of us," and the pleasant relations he severed when his line of duty took him elsewhere, can be renewed, without delay or confuison. The return of himself and family is a decided acquisition to the social and business life of Charleroi.

One Man's Work

In this period of social unrest and suspicion against what is termed the "big interests" it is interesting to note some of the benefits as well as the abuses of the vast concentration of wealth and its development. This is shown by a writer in an article on the achievements of James J. Hill, builder of the Great Northern railroad.

By his creative genius Mr. Hill constructed 7,000 miles of railroad through undeveloped country. This alone advances values at least $20 an acre on 320,000,000 acres of land, increasing the wealth of the country $6,400,000,000. At least 500,000 people found employment at good wages, by reason of this one man's energy. If each only earns $2 a day this is increased income for employed labor amounting to $1,000,000 per day, or for 300 days is $300,000,000 annually. This is 6 per cent. on five billion dollars.

These developments might have been made during the next century, but by the energy and genius of one man they were hastened fully 100 years. It is up to the world to judge whether or not this was a blessing or a curse to humanity; whether an active policy, like that of the United States, is better than a passive policy, like that of China. The concensus of opinion will be in favor of the former policy.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

Walter Bean of Luna, Ohio, has enlisted in the navy. Now he's a navy bean.

Yesterday's issue of the Washington Observer, E. F. Acheson's newspaper, had an editorial entitled "Sour Milk." If it had been "Sour Grapes" it would have been more in keeping with that paper's political attitude.

Permissible explosives should be those which it is impossible for the average man to fire.

The People's Tribune, a strictly Prohibition paper published in Uniontown, reiterates that Berry is a sorehead. Aw, now, quit.

One trouble against Esperanto, according to an exchange, is that a cuss word is not provided. What is needed is some word which covers a whole lot without actual access to profanity.

Acording to Pittsburg city officials crowding in street cars must be stopped. Does that mean crowding in seats or crowding for straps?

To the man who has to withstand an operation for appendicitis and pay the bill for the same, the disease is nothing more than an old fashioned stomache ache.

A well bred man is one who never knows quite as much about the subject as we do.

A real gentleman is one who never speaks to you except to ask a favor. There are many gentlemen.

A hundred years ago it took a week of hard battle to kill 2,000 men. Now we kill them all in five minutes. Such has been the progress of civilization.

A Boston man says he has received messages from the dead. Anybody can make a similar statement.

About the nastiest thing one could witness besides the defeat of Jim Jeffries by some fellow who is able to come back is a wrestling match between two women ending up in a hair pulling contest.

the social relations of a true neighborly life.

I remembered that for 19 years he had been our counselor and our friend and to many of us, a friend indeed.

I rememberd that for 19 years we had done business with him day by day, always on correct business principles, and ever found him the same genial, courtly gentleman with whom it was a pleasure to do business.

I remembered that for 19 years we knew of his going out and coming in, in fact the daily routine of his life during all these years was known to every person in this community. Remembering all these things and much more which I will not trespass on your space, I was impressed with the one fact that John K. Tener's whole life has been as an open book and there is not one closed page in his whole record.

In conclusion permit me to say a few words on the present situation. To my Democratic friends with whom we have fought many a hard battle in the past, and after this campaign expect to fight many more; to my Prohibition friends, who like the poor are always with us, with their issue; to my Socialist neighbors who are likened to John the Baptist peaching in the wilderness and living on locusts and wild honey, but mostly locusts; to my Keystone party friends who are to the political world just now what a mosquito is to the material world, all are here for some wise purpose, but God above only knows what, to one and all I say, be of good cheer. While the outlook is gloomy in their camps, everything shines brightly in the Republican camp today.

We present for their consideration four candidates who stand four square to every just criticism that may be leveled against them, and I assure them that in my opinion while John K. Tener occupies the executive mansion as Governor of this State they will all get a square deal. You are entitled to it and you are going to get it.

Theo. Jones.

THE WORD "ALPHABET."

It Comes Through the Greeks and Hebrews From Phoenicia.

When we speak of our A B C's as our "alphabet" we are using a word hoary with age, that, as far back as we can trace it, came from the eastern shore of the Mediterranean sea, thousands of years before the Hebrews went up there and took possession of the land of Canaan. Back of the people who occupied that land before the events of Exodus were written we are not able to trace the word, for we have not sufficient knowledge of them or of their etymological history before we find them in Canaan.

It has been only within recent years that we have been able to know that the word "alphabet" came to us from the Phoenicians. Before that we supposed that it came to us from the Hebrews, through the Greek. As we say "A B C" the Greeks say "alpha beta," the first two letters of their alphabet, which when it reached us became "alphabet." This we supposed had come to the Greeks from the Hebrews, who called their first two letters "alph" and "beth," but since then we have found that both the Greeks and the Hebrews got the word "alphabet" from the same source, which was the Phoenicians.

The people of Phoenicia had the same letters "alph" and "beth," which have suffered but little change in sound down to our A and B. Alph meant simply an ox, the sign of it being a conventional ox's head, with the lower part of the face turned slightly to its right, and beth meant a house, which was pictured by the rude outline of a primitive dwelling, which had a superfluous line added to distinguish it from other characters very like it, as we place a tail on a Q to distinguish it from an O. So the first two letters of our A B C's were originally an ox and a house and gave the name of all of the twenty-six letters which we call our "alphabet."—New York Herald.

MAKE THEM LAUGH.

A Bachelor's Idea of the Way Children Should Be Trained.

"The people who don't have to do things can always do them better than the people who are obliged to do them," said the cynical bachelor. "If you want to know how to invest money, ask a fellow who has never had any to invest. I suppose it's the same with raising children. Nevertheless I am fond of children and never having had an opportunity of raising any of my own, I am critical about the way other people, more fortunate than I, raise theirs.

"My brother has a youngster, a boy about six years old, and everything that kid wants he cries for. The minute he begins to cry he gets it, which, according to my reasoning, is all wrong.

"Why not make him laugh for it? It's just as easy for a child to laugh as to cry, and it's far more healthful, besides being much more cheerful to the surrounding populace.

"I've tried the experiment with him, and it works like a charm. If I happen to have anything he wants, and he cries for it I make fun of him. 'That isn't the way to get it,' I say. 'Don't cry for it. Laugh for it.'

"It took only about two lessons for him to understand this, and you have no idea what a wonderful difference it has made in the disposition of that kid. Still, I'm only an old bachelor, and I'm not supposed to know anything about such things."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Took an Unfair Advantage.

Mrs. Dorkins — Yesterday I called Mrs. Grundage's attention to the fact that she had left the gate between our back yards open and that her chickens had come through and scratched up our flower beds, and she looked as if she would have liked to bite my head off. How foolish it is for people to get angry when you remind them that they have been careless about something they had no business to overlook!

Mr. Dorkins—I am glad to hear you say that, Maria. You won't mind if I mention that when I came home last night I found that you'd left both the back doors unlocked.

Mrs. Dorkins — Yes; you're always watching to see if you can't catch me in some little fault, and it makes you perfectly happy when you do!—New York Tribune.

Something to Live For.

Three little girls were playing. The mother of one came into the room and engaged the children in conversation. "Marian, what are you going to be when you grow up?" she asked.

"I am going to be a famous singer," she replied.

"And you, Susie, what are you to be?"

"Oh, I am going to write stories when I grow up," she answered.

"And what is Marjorie to be?" continued the mother.

Marjorie, aged five, thought seriously a moment, and then said, "Well, I am not sure, but I think I'll be a widow.'

Nietzsche and the Invalid.

An invalid lady who often met Nietzsche found him the gentlest, kindest and most sympathetic of men. He "implored her with tears in his eyes not to read his books." Such was his knowledge of women that he was thunderstruck to find shortly afterward that the lady at once proceeded to read them all. He was further stupefied by the discovery that, having read them, she was utterly unmoved by the philosopher's unanswerable demonstrations that feeble persons like herself had no right to live and that women were distinguished by this, that and the other objectionable attribute. It must have been a blow to him.—London News.

The Colossus of Rhodes.

The gigantic Colossus of Rhodes was one of the seven wonders of the world. It was erected in honor of the sun by Charles of Lindus, a disciple of Lysippus, and was thrown down by an earthquake about 224 B. C.

The figure stood upon two moles a leg extended on each side of the harbor. A winding staircase led to the top of the figure, from out of the eyes of which were visible the coast of Syria and the ships sailing on the coast of Egypt. The colossi were the peculiar characteristic of eastern art and were of common occurrence, many of them being over sixty feet in height. The most celebrated is the statue of Memnos, on the plain of Thebes, described by the historian Strabo.
